Once again we have kept the prices as low as possible.
With rising production costs and demand falling mainly due to the use of 'digital' alternatives, we could reduce future price rises somewhat should the demand increase.

I do hope that you are in good health during this troubling time with Coronavirus Covid-19 causing very difficult issues for everyone. I am currently working hard preparing the 2021 Parson's Pocket Book and will have it ready for the printers very soon. They will produce it when they return to work when the current lockdown is removed. It may not be ready until after the usual publication date but rest assured it will be with you as soon as possible. Keep safe. Kind regards, Paul Wood, Atkinson Publications Ltd.
